WHITE PLAINS.

Since the incorporation of the village of Bronx-ville, in the town of East Chester, there has been no enumeration of its inhabitants. The Gramatan Inn, a large hotel within the boundaries of the vil-lage, recently applied to County Treasurer Carpenlage, recently applied to County Treasurer Carpenter for a hotel liquor license, and, claiming that the population of the village was less than twelve hundred, held that the amount of the tax should be $100. The County Treasurer ruled that the village population was between twelve hundred and five thousand, and that the hotel must pay $200 for a license. The case came up before County Judge Smith Lent yesterday morning. The State Commissioner of Excise was represented by counsel, and ex-Assemblyman Alfred E. Smith appeared for the proprietors of the hotel. The Judge granted to the State authorities additional time in which to prepare their side of the case, and made an order directing the County Treasurer to issue the license at $100 pending the determination of the case in the courts.

In the Surrogate's Court testamentary letters have been issued to Mary Highibothem on the will of Thomas Highbothem, of Yonkers, and to Mary L. Levy on the will of James Levy, of Mount Vernon. Seaman on the estate of Christina Seaman, of Rye.

The franchise for the Consumers' Electric Company, over which a wrangle exists, as previously told in The Tribune, came up before the Common Council in special meeting on Friday night, and there was a lively discussion. Alderman Loeder moved that the resolution granting an extension of ten days to the company be taken from the table. This was carried by a vote of 7 to 4. The same Alderman then moved for the adoption of the resolution. There was a lot of argument over this, but the resolution was adopted by a vote of 8 to 3, three Aldermen being absent. The Board adopted a resolution from the Committee of the Whole reporting in favor of the issuance of bonds for $9,300 for the purchase of a site for a new schoolhouse near Lowerre Station. The bonds are to mature on April 1, 1966. On motion of Alderman Reagan an act of the Legislature providing for all contract labor in the city to be performed by eight hours a day work at $1.75 a day was adopted. Another hearing was given by the Aldermen on Friday night on the gas question. As usual, the New-York Suburban Company, which now has a monopoly in this and neighboring cities, was not ready to present its plans in full, and the Corporation Counsel was instructed by a unanimous vote to draw up a franchise for the Westchester Gas and Coke Company, and submit it at a meeting to be held to-morrow night. This franchise will call for gas at a maximum price of $1.25 a thousand feet, and unless the New-York Suburban Company offers a cheaper rate a strong attempt will be made to have it adopted. One of the chief surprises at the hearing was a statement made by Alderman Howe that he had heard well-founded rumors that the two companies had decided to consolidate, or that the Westchester company was about to buy out the New-York company. This is denied by the agents of both corporations. vote to draw up a franchise for the Westchester

INVESTIGATING AMERICAN COMPANIES.

WORK OF THE PRUSSIAN INSURANCE COMMIS-

SION-TO EXAMINE THE AFFAIRS OF THE MUTUAL LIFE AND THE NEW-YORK LIFE.

The arrival here of two Prussian officials of high rank on an official mission, namely for the pur-pose of examining the financial standing of a few large life-insurance companies and their methods of distributing profits among their policy-holders, marks the relations existing between the Prussian and German governments and the Government of the United States. A prominent insurance man makes the following statement of the present status of affairs in the matter now pending concerning the readmission of American life-insurance companies to transact business in Prussia:

"The three American life-insurance companies the New-York Life, the Equitable and the Mutual Life, received a number of years ago a concession to do business in Prussia. A few years ago the Prussian Government introduced more stringent measures of control and supervision, applicable to all insurance companies holding concessions in Prussia, and these measures applied to the report-ing of the companies' annual operations and their management in general. While all other companies operating in Prussia complied with the new prepanies did not deem it advisable to do so, while the fourth American company, the Germania Life, submitted to the new governmental enactments. panies and the Prussian supervising authorities After long negotiations the result was that the Equitable had to withdraw from Prussia, whereas the concessions of the Mutual Life and the New-York Life to do business were recalled. Subsequently, however, the two last-named companies quently, however, the two last-named companies made new application for readmission to Prussia, and made a request that a commission be appointed to examine thoroughly their standing and methods of doing business. The Prussian Minister of Interior, Baron von der Recke von der Horst, complied with this request, and appointed a commission, consisting of the referee in insurance matters at the Ministry of Interior, Privy Councillor von Knebel-Doeberitz, and the technical adviser and mathematician, Court Councillor Baron Mar-schall von Bieberstein, also of the Ministry of Inand mathematician. Court Councilior Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, also of the Ministry of Interior.

"On their arrival here last week both men went to Washington and were introduced to the German Ambassador, Dr. von Holleben, and to the higher officials of the State Department, Secretary Hay and Assistant Secretary Hill. The commissioners were afterward introduced to President McKinley, who received them most cordially. President McKinley assured them that the appointment of the commission was highly appreciated here and expressed the hope that American companies would show their appreciation by affording all facilities for an unhindered examination of their affairs. "On their return to New-York the commissioners proceeded to make preliminary arrangements to carry out their mission. The affairs of the New-York Life are to be examined first, and later on those of the Mutual Life.

"The commissioners went to Albany last Wednesday to pay their respects to Governor Roosevelt and to the Superintendent of the Insurance Department, Louis F. Payn. A further object of their visit to Albany was to collect data concerning laws bearing on insurance matters and to become acquainted with the methods of insurance supervision as exercised in this State.

"The object of the visit seems to be chiefly an investigation, as the commission is studying questions which could not be ascertained in Germany. The commissioners made no assurances as to the ultimate decision in the matter of readmission of the companies to Prussia, nor do they expect to make any, as they say that the decision is to be taken in Berlin. It is therefore impossible to say now what the result of this commission's labors may be."

JAMES W. QUINTARD'S WILL FILED.

A LARGE ESTATE DIVIDED AMONG RELATIVES. CHRIST CHURCH, RYE, REMEMBERED.

Chester, was filed yesterday in the Westchester County Surrogate's office. Mr. Quintard left a large estate, which he disposed of as follows: To his widow, Hedwig J. Quintard, a life estate in $100,000 in lieu of dower, and to each of his four children, Frances Adele Safford, Florence Estelle McGregor, Maud Louisa Quintard and George W. Quintard, a life estate in $100,000 and one-quarter of the re-siduary estate, and to the son the decedent's jewelry and personal belongings, valued at $1,000; to Woodlawn Cemetery the income of $3,000 in trust to take care of the family plot and to Christ Church, in Rye, $10,000.

The widow interested in this will was the wife he married last February, when she was the governess married last February, when she was the governess for his children. She was his fourth wife. Mr. Quintard was a director in the Pacific Steamship Company, interested in the Quintard Iron Works and also interested in many large corporations. He names Nicholas F. Palmer, of New-York City, and Adamson R. McCanless, of Rye, Westchester County, as executors.

The will was made on May 31, 1895, and to it was attached a codicil dated February 9, 1899. The testator's autograph to the original was made in a plain and firm hand, but that to the codicil, only four years later, was in a shaky and trembling hand, and he was evidently not satisfied with the first attempt, for he wrote it again immediately underneath, but without any apparent improvement.
